DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4-10 and 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Simon (US 2004/0174199).

As to claim 1, Simon discloses in figure 3 a method, comprising: receiving an input current (output of 22); mirroring the input current (by 11, 12, 29, 30); converting the received input current to a voltage (by 11); filtering the voltage (by 29, 30); and converting the filtered voltage into an output current (by 12) using the mirrored input current.

As to claim 2, figure 3 shows that the step of filtering is performed by a low pass filter.

As to claim 4, figure 3 shows the step of outputting the output current to a mixer (2-6).

As to claim 5, figure 3 shows that the step of converting the received input voltage and converting the filtered voltage are performed by a first and second MOSFET (11, 12), respectively.

As to claim 6, figure 3 shows that the second MOSFET is the inverse of the first.

As to claim 7, figure 3 shows that the filtering filters out clocking glitches and quantization noise.

As to claim 8, figure 3 shows that the filtering yields a DC gain of one.

Claims 9, 10 and 12-17 recite similar limitations of claims above. Therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simon (US 2004/0174199).

Simon's figure 3 shows all limitations of the claims except for the filter is a third order filter. However, it is notoriously well known in the art that a higher order, the better the filter performs. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use a third order filter for the Simon's low pass filter in order to improve the performance of the circuit.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. These references are cited as interest because they show some circuits analogous to the claimed invention.
